Kasey Rockwell Joins Providence Federal Credit Union (PFCU) as New Assistant Vice President of Operations

Milwaukie, Oregon (September 28, 2021)— Providence Federal Credit Union (Providence FCU), the premier financial institution serving the employees of Providence Health & Services, announced the hiring of Kasey Rockwell as its new assistant vice president of operations. Rockwell joins the Oregon-based Federal Credit Union with over 30 years of experience developing staff, overseeing operations and enhancing member experience.

“When doing what’s right is the company manifesto that matches your personal mantra, it became a no-brainer PFCU would be a great fit for me,” said Kasey. “I truly enjoy working with SEG (Select Employee Group) based credit unions as they tend to have a niche market to serve and tell their stories well.”

Kasey is a 2008 graduate from Western CUNA Management School. She lauds extensive experience as a credit union development educator (CUDE), has worked as a director of credit union relations and outreach. Rockwell is a member of the Credit Union for Kids Advisory Board for a local Children’s hospital. Over her 30+ year career span, she has continued to foster relationships with the World Council of Credit Unions allowing her to connect various Oregon credit unions with the country of Uzbekistan.

“We are absolutely thrilled to have Kasey joining us,” says Shirley Cate, president and chief executive officer for PFCU. “We’re known for hiring top notch employees who are truly committed to serving and doing right by our members; I’m confident Ms. Rockwell will meet and exceed this standard.”

“I’m looking forward to working closely with our branch manager and member care manager to ensure our members are receiving the very best member services PFCU is both known for and will continue to deliver.” In addition to her new role as assistant vice president of operations, she will oversee plastic cards, payments and BSA for PFCU.
